

Activity Report of English Proficiency Course

I, Amandeep Singh Bal, have been teaching as an assistant professor of Communication Skills in the department of Applied Science at Guru Nanak Dev Engineering College, Ludhiana since August 03, 2016.

As per reference to your letter no. APS/52/893, dated July 21, 2020, English Proficiency Course was conducted from August 5, 2020 – August 19, 2020. The course was conducted for the B.Tech first year students of Batch 2019.

1. The course was designed to help the students improve their communication skills.
2. In the lectures on grammar, the students were taught how to make correct use of tenses, articles, prepositions, vocabulary etc. in sentences. As a result, they were able to improve their writing skills.
3. Speaking activities helped them improve their speaking skills. These activities encouraged them to get rid of their hesitation in expressing views before the audience. Also, it helped them in gaining fluency.
4. In order to check their performance, the students were given quizzes to attempt. In every quiz, all of them scored very well.
